

BILL TO RESCIND INCOME TAX APPROVAL

Assemblyman Hinman's Resolution Would Kill Action Taken by N. Y. Legislature.

APT TO PASS BOTH HOUSES

Proposed 16th Amendment Has Not Been Ratified by Three-fourths of the States, He Says.

ALBANY, Jan. 30.—Assemblyman Harold J. Hinman of Albany to-day introduced a resolution rescinding the action taken by the New York Legislature last year in approving upon behalf of New York State the proposed income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution. Assemblyman Hinman is chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee and the personal representative in the Assembly of William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican State committee. It is anticipated that this rescinding resolution will pass the Republican Assembly, and that in that event it also will pass the Democratic Senate. Chairman Hinman's resolution was in the form of a bill.

The resolution, after reciting the resolution of the last year in the language of the resolution and further reciting that the proposed sixteenth amendment has not been ratified by three-fourths of the states, provides that the same shall become a part of the Constitution, specifically recites that the present Legislature desired to withdraw the consent expressed in the resolution of last year for the following reasons:

That serious reflection has revealed the fact that the question is not whether an income tax is in itself a fair and equitable tax, nor even whether a proper Federal tax ought to be approved, but whether this particular amendment is suitable or disastrous.

That every State, and particularly the State of New York, is looking for new sources of revenue only to find that such sources already appropriated or sought to be appropriated by the Federal Government.

That his Excellency the Governor of this State has recently communicated to the Legislature here how assembled by written message, calling attention to the financial needs of the State of New York and its consequent embarrassment entailed by the persistent encroachments of the Federal taxing power.

That the State of New York, represented in the Legislature here now assembled, does not oppose the levy of an income tax by the Federal Government under proper restrictions and for proper purposes, but is opposed to the proposed amendment expressed in the above recited concurrent resolution.

First—Because it has been defectively drafted so as to permit the taxation of income from State and municipal securities.

Second—Because no provision is made for a levy of tax uniformly throughout the United States, and

Third—Because it has not been limited in its scope to use as a war or other emergency measure and in the event of its use as a general taxation of peace for current expenses there is no provision for division of proceeds between the national and State governments.

Fourth—Because there is no emergency calling for the immediate passage of the proposed amendment.

Mr. Hinman's resolution then recites that for the foregoing reasons the resolution of last year is repealed, rescinded and annulled; that the Legislature refuses to ratify the proposed sixteenth amendment and withdraws its former ratification and rescinds the concurrent resolution of last year.

To this resolution the Secretary of State, Washington, and to every member of the Senate and the House of Representatives and the Governors of the several States, and further requests the Secretary of State at Washington to return to the Governor of this State a copy of the resolution of last year which has already been transmitted to him.

PRIMARY LAW AMENDMENTS.

Proposed Changes Will Be Put Into Two Bills as Gov. Dix Suggested.

ALBANY, Jan. 30.—The leaders of the Senate and the Assembly conferred to-day and decided that proposed direct primary law amendments in this session shall be divided into two bills.

One which will be pushed through the Legislature contains amendments favored by the Republican State committee, which will give the party State committee authority to act where the law is defective in making preparations for the spring primaries. The other bill will contain those amendments favored by Gov. Dix and other friends of the law who want inserted different provisions which were eliminated when the bill was passed last year.

Majority Leader Wagner in discussing the work of the Democratic Senators to-night said:

The Democratic majority has agreed unanimously in conference upon a bill amending the direct primary law. It will be introduced by Senator Ferris to-morrow and I expect it to pass the Senate within a very short time. The bill carries out the recommendations made by the Governor that there be a representative from each Assembly district on the State committee and that action on the amendment to the State committee be held at the same time, doing away with the exception made as to the city of New York. It will prohibit the use of the party emblem at primaries. It will make some reduction in the number of signatures required for independent designations, and extend the franchise.

It will prohibit the use of party funds for primary purposes. In addition to this the bill will adopt suggestions made by the leaders of both parties after a conference held yesterday tending to correct certain technical imperfections in the law, and will also provide a short ballot. These suggestions are agreed upon by the leaders. I believe this bill will also be passed by the Senate as soon as possible, so that the Assembly may have both bills before it.

LEGISLATORS GET JOLT.

Two on N. Y. C. Train Which Hits a Plank — Wire President Brown Complaint.

ALBANY, Jan. 30.—The Empire State Express on the New York Central Railroad struck a plank on the track near New Hamburg, lifting into the air the car, which was in the center of the train. The car, however, did not leave the track.

Legislators who were on the train sent the following telegram to President Brown of the New York Central:

"After breaking of truck of dinner car, two foot signs of attorney-at-law, and two foot signs of attorney-at-law, engineer put on brakes to stop train, which traveled at least two miles full speed after accident. Second accident to Tuesday Empire within two weeks."

BETTING AS BRANCH OF BANKING BUSINESS

Curious Defence Offered by a Widow in a Suit in Foreclosure.

CONVICT BANKER INVOLVED

Defendant Says the Hamilton's President Helped Cheat Her to Bet on the Races.

A suit to be tried shortly in the Supreme Court is brought by the Hamilton Bank, predecessor of the Northern Bank of New York, against Mrs. Henrietta Hahn of 719 Beck street, The Bronx, to foreclose a mortgage for $12,325 on property owned by Mrs. Hahn at Southern Boulevard and Longwood avenue, The Bronx, in which the defendant alleges that the notes for which the mortgage was executed were obtained from her by the fraud of William R. Montgomery, the convicted president of the Hamilton Bank, who is now in Sing Sing, and of her son, Charles F. Hahn, pursuant to an agreement by which Hahn was to bet the money on the races and pay Montgomery half of his winnings.

In her answer Mrs. Hahn says that she has no knowledge of the English language. She alleges that she obtained money from the bank upon the invitation of Montgomery for the purpose of making unlawful wagers on horse races and presented to her certain blank forms of notes and fraudulently represented that they were renewals of certain notes she had executed before. In practice, she says, the bank would take the notes and bank would then sign new notes for $6,000 and as a result certain sums of money were put to the credit of her son in the bank, upon which he immediately drew for the purpose of betting on the races.

VILLAGE FOR FEEBLE MINDED.

Agents Representing Fourteen Counties Urge Its Early Completion.

A conference of county agents for dependent children, representing fourteen up-State counties, passed a resolution calling attention to the need for increased provision for the feeble-minded and urged the early completion of Letchworth village.

The conference was held at 105 East Twenty-second street yesterday under the auspices of the State Charities Aid Association. The agents present deal annually with over 3,000 cases of juvenile dependency.

The resolution recited that a large number of dependent children are passing because of feeble-mindedness either in the children themselves or their parents. The completion of Letchworth village, the resolution added, will relieve the present pressure on the institutions for the feeble-minded at Syracuse, Newark, Rome and Utica.

Williston Alumni Association of New York City, composed of graduates of the preparatory school in East Hampton, Mass., had their annual dinner last night at the Hotel Utica. About fifty members of the meal club, with their wives, officially raised the De Jager H. T. Tawes, principal of Williston. Others seated were Charles O. Munn, who didn't go to Williston, E. M. Roberts and the Rev. B. B. Howe. John C. Coleman, '78, presided.

Commissioner Johnson said: "I think it fair to inform as many people as possible of the department's intention to prosecute criminally those who endanger the lives and property of others by the careless throwing away of lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes, before making arrests."

Dwyer came out of the apartment and left the building about three-quarters of an hour after Robert had fled from it. He went to Police Headquarters and reported that Robert had attacked him and that he had used a knife in self-defense.

Early yesterday morning Dwyer went to the police station again and told the detectives that he would make a formal complaint against Robert, but he did not come again. The young man has made no complaint and the police do not know the cause of the trouble.

FIRE ENGINE ADVERTISING.

To Warn Smokers to Be Careful With Matches.

Fire Commissioner Johnson yesterday sent through the streets an automobile fire engine, bearing a sign to the effect that careless handling of matches is a violation of law. The Corporation Council says that people who throw away lighted matches are endangering life and property and so are guilty of a misdemeanor. The auto stood for a time near the ruined Equitable Building and later toured the town.
